BIG DEFICIT THREATENED

Either Must Increase Revenue or Cut Expenditures, the Secretary Says.By L. C. Martin
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—The government will be hard put to find enough revenue in the next few years to keep its activities running and meet maturing obligations, Secretary of the Treasury Houston told the senate finance committee today.

If new tax burdens are assumed, the situation will become doubly serious, he said.

Houston was asked to analyze the financial situation with reference to the proposal to pay a soldier bonus of between one and two billion dollars.

He put before the committee, with the aid of a few figures, a graphic picture of just what the treasurer faces between now and the end of 1923.

Victory Bonds Due

In 1923, he said, $500,000,000 of war savings certificates and $4,250,000,000 of victory notes and bonds mature, and must either be refunded or paid. In addition, the cost of running the government must be met and the floating debt amounts to $2,300,000,000.

"In brief," said Houston, "we have to take care of $7,500,000,000 worth of obligations within the next two years in addition to financing the ordinary activities of the government."

"At the same time, some sources of revenue are gradually drying up, notably the income and profits taxes."

"We will approach 1923 with a deficit of at least $1,500,000,000 at the present rate."

Must Cut Expense

"Obviously, therefore, we must either cut down our expenditures or find new sources of revenue, even if we do not take on any new obligation. That will be difficult because there is growing in the public mind opposition to paying high taxes any longer."

Houston said he strongly opposed any plan to have the government give Germany a credit of a billion dollars, as some farm organizations are demanding.

"That would just be transferring to the government the bad debts or poor security which private capital refuses to assume," said Houston.

Too Many Burdens

He declared that if such a credit were granted Germany, he would not know where the money would come from.

"With all the burdens that confront us, it doesn't seem to me that we ought to throw on the government further burdens of that sort," said Houston.

Some of the chief advocates of the credit to Germany are vociferously demanding, he said, that the debt owed us by the allies be cancelled.

QUIET CHRISTMAS
IN WHITE HOUSENo Children to Make Welkin
Ring in President Wilson's Mansion.By United Press Leased Wire.
Washington—Santa Claus will pass by the White House when his sleigh comes whizzing over the national capital tomorrow night.

The president's grandchildren, who have made White House Christmas celebrations merry affairs in the past, will not be here this Christmas—President Wilson's last one in the White House.

It was learned today that W. G. McAdoe and Mrs. McAdoe, one of the president's daughters, will have their Christmas at their own home as will Professor and Mrs. Sayre.

Miss Margaret Wilson, the president's third daughter, will be at the White House.

Because of the absence of the children there probably will be no Christmas tree and no dinner guests with the exception of Mrs. Wilson's relatives.

After distributing gifts to White House attendants, the president and Mrs. Wilson will spend their day as usual, driving out in the afternoon if the weather permits.

It is Mrs. Wilson's custom to distribute gifts to children along the route of the drive on Christmas.

120 PER CENT BOOST
IN MILWAUKEE MAILBy United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—Milwaukee mailed 643,000 pieces of first class mail Tuesday, an increase of 120 per cent over the same day last year, while over 2,000 sacks, an increase of over 25 per cent over last year, were received that day, according to postal figures made public today.

This will be Milwaukee's biggest Christmas, according to department store managers, whose sale records show larger purchases than ever before. Shoppers seem to prefer useful articles to luxuries, it was said.

MILLIONS ARE STARVING

Christmas Celebration in Old World Will Be Travesty on
Other Years.By Charles M. McCann
By United Press Leased Wire
London—European childhood wistfully eyed the Christmas display in America today.

A Yankee Santa Claus was doing his best to make it a real Christmas but his visit to two million children meant he was limited to distributing "practical presents."

Warm flannels and special foods replaced the walking doll and other splendid gifts of the war years.

The territory to be covered by the Yankee Santa Claus extended over most of Europe—the "starvation areas." He heard the plea for help in twenty different languages. His chief agents were the American Red Cross and the organization for the relief of destitute children headed by Herbert Hoover.

In Austria forty thousand war orphans were to be treated to special foods and given warm clothing to replace the thin garments now representing their best. All through Austria parties were arranged for 300,000 children who otherwise would have had no remembrance whatever.

Germany's 600,000 destitute children were to be provided with delicacies such as they have not seen in a year. In Poland this Santa Claus encountered some of the most desperate cases. There were 900,000 children there eagerly awaiting his arrival.

The Yankee visitors will not leave cakes here. They will be intent on building strong bodies to resist the Arctic-like winter which still is to come. Nourishing food, different from that which they get from the relief stations was to be the big Christmas gift in Warsaw and other centers.

In Germany where Christmas once was the biggest event of the year, the celebrations this season will be a travesty on the old days. Only the richest there will be able to buy the toys which formerly were within reach of nearly all.

In France the Americans will find plenty to do, although the cases appear less desperate since relief organizations have done much in the last two years to supply the wants of the population.

The practical gifts of the Americans will find their way into Spain and Italy. Jugo-Slavia, Czechoslovakia and Hungary—wherever the American Red Cross has representatives who can distribute them.

Santa Employs Trucks
For Harding's GiftsBy United Press Leased Wire.
Marion, Ohio—Anxious office-seekers, prospecting cabinet members and even "best minds" will not be wanted at 380 Mount Vernon avenue tomorrow night.

President-elect and Mrs. Harding have arranged not to hear the doorbell until it is rung by a certain one of the nation's leading citizens, none other than the well known Mr. Santa Claus. Express drays have been unloading dozens of odd-shaped packages and mysterious looking boxes at the Harding back door for several days.

Inez, the Harding cook, declared she never saw anything like it down in "Virginia." The gifts include almost everything human imagination can think of from small pieces of personal jewelry to large crated turkeys. But aside from this, the Hardings expect a simple, quiet Christmas, much like that which thousands of other families will observe in small towns all over the United States.

2,000 LIVES LOST IN CHINESE EARTHQUAKE

Shanghai—Two thousand lives were lost in an earthquake in the isolated province of Kan-Su, according to reports here today.

The shocks were still continuing at last reports.

The town of Pang Liang with several surrounding villages was reported wrecked. Rescue work was carried out with great difficulty because of the isolation of the province and its extreme ruggedness.

Kan-Su also is the famine district.

Italy Sends Bullets Into Rebel Fiume

By Camillo Cianfrera

By United Press Leased Wire
Rome—Rifle fire spat from the crags and promontories guarding the eastern shore of the Adriatic today. Civil strife between the legionnaires of Fiume and the regular Italian army had begun.

Where government troops had quietly yielded to the poet's troops previously, they braced today, employing machine guns and rifles to show that they will not give further ground.

General Caviglia, commanding the regular forces surrounding the port of Fiume, has put a blockade order into effect and announced that no breaks in the line will be permitted.

Commandante D'Annunzio met the blockade order with another declaration of war and a proclamation forbidding citizens to leave the city.

There were indications that the government finally intended squeezing the poet commander from his occupation of the port. His troops who had occupied Zara without opposition yesterday, were driven out with no casualties and regulars began restricting the Fiume territory. An encounter at Gellene, ten miles from Fiume, was said to have resulted in two deaths and minor casualties.

Italian destroyers patrolling the rocky coast shelled D'Annunzio's garisons on Veglia and smaller islands.

D'Annunzio Plot

London—D'Annunzio's plot to wreck the Jugo-Slav government and thereby the Adriatic treaty, has been uncovered, according to Milan dispatches. The poet was said to have schemed to desert Fiume with his force of 6,000 men, land them in Dalmatia simultaneously with a Croatian rebellion and thereby overthrow the government.

The poet's forces were said to number 6,000 legionnaires, five destroyers, two torpedo boats, eight tugs, five steamships and several field guns and machine guns.

MINNESOTA WILL JOIN WISCONSIN
IN RATE BATTLECopher State Authorities Question
Right to Raise Intrastate Rates.By United Press Leased Wire
St. Paul Minn.—Minnesota will probably join Wisconsin in a big legal fight on the ruling of the interstate commerce commission, holding railroad rates intrastate must conform to interstate rates.

The first move of Attorney General Hilton probably will be to file an answer to the restraining order issued by Judge Wilbur Booth in federal court yesterday, preventing the state railroad and warehouse commission and the attorney general from enforcing the state two cent maximum passenger fare law. This injunction was served almost at the hour the interstate commerce commission ordered the railroads to put into effect a twenty per cent increase in passenger and baggage rates.

The attorney general hailed the developments as the beginning of a long and bitter court fight. The cases will be carried to the United States supreme court to determine whether the interstate commerce commission's rulings supersede rulings of state utilities commissions as to rates intrastate. The cases bring up the question of states rights.

Railroads are required to give five days notice to the public when they increase rates. In Minnesota, railroads are already charging a 3 cent passenger fare under the Esch-Cummings act. The rates will now be increased to 3.5 cents per mile intrastate, it was believed.

RAIN STORM PREVENTS OHIO TEAM'S WORKOUTBy United Press Leased Wire
San Francisco—Ohio State's football team had a little tough break in the weather today and as a result the programmed field practice at Stanford University was curtailed.

California was wrapped in a nice rain storm and it forced the Buckeyes to do most of their practicing indoors.

The Ohioans arrived late yesterday at Berkeley and were given a rousing reception.

They looked over the place and then came to San Francisco where they relaxed at a tea party last night.

Today they entrained for Palo Alto to spend the day as guests of the Stanford University student body before leaving for Pasadena tonight.

The Red Cross aided in preparing gifts which will be distributed to all children in the district.

Exercises will include a Christmas concert by military bands.

LEADERS PLAN TO FIGHT

Canvass Reveals Many Democrats Were Ready to Support Fordney Measure.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright, 1920)

Washington, D. C.—Abnormal economic conditions are producing abnormal political divisions everywhere but the attitude of the democrats toward the emergency tariff just passed by the House of Representatives is the most significant thing that has happened since the political upheaval which the country experienced at the polls last November.

Informally canvassing the democrats in the House, the leaders found a few days ago that about two thirds if they were getting ready to vote for the Fordney tariff bill and this too in spite of the fact that the wool schedule is much higher than the famous schedule K which President Taft finally admitted was "indefensible."

Democratic leaders began to reason with their brethren and found out that fear of the farmers and the cattle-raisers was at the bottom of the protectionist feeling of the democrats who were not afraid of republican opposition but the prospect that protectionist democrats might arise in the next primaries to contest their seats.

The democratic leaders found that the democratic rank and file had been persuaded to believe that they would not be held to task by low tariff emergency measure. The upshot of the conferences, however, was a considerable return to the original democratic position on the tariff and there were not as many democratic votes for the Fordney bill as it seemed at first. The vote, however, was surprising.

Must Be Consistent

The contention of the democratic leaders is that if a democrat votes for the principle of protection in an emergency measure, he will find it difficult to oppose the tariff measures which the republicans will unquestionably offer as a permanent policy when the extra session of congress has been convened.

How, it is asked, can a democrat reverse himself when the real tariff bills are before him next spring? Accordingly many democrats, especially those in the senate, are announcing that they will bitterly oppose the Fordney bill when it reaches the upper house and that they will insist on thorough discussion and considerable debate. Democrats, however, will be found supporting the bill. Senators Ransdell and Gay of Louisiana, as well as some western democrats in whose states the cattle-raisers are clamoring for tariff protection to stop the fall in the price of wool, will form a sturdy coalition which will assist the republicans materially in getting the measure through the senate.

Southern democrats are inclined to line up against the measure together with some eastern republicans in the senate in whose states are manufacturing concerns who want foreign markets and fear a disturbance to trade if retaliatory tariff wars are begun.

Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama, who knows the tariff question from "a" to "z" because part he played in framing the present tariff laws when he was a member of the house is expected back here in a day or two and will consult with Senator Simmons and other democratic leaders concerning a party policy. Moreover the democratic ranks in congress which show signs every now and then of going to pieces on party policies are apt to be strengthened when the party conference has been held after the first of the year. The whole tariff effort in the present session is regarded by many democrats as a shrewd effort on the part of republicans like Senators Warren of Wyoming, who represents a cattle raising state, to lay the foundations for a high tariff in the extra session of congress, figuring that even President Harding will not be able to oppose the imposition of tariff duties that have already passed a congress in which republican majorities are slender compared to the overwhelming strength of the new congress.

STREET CAR COLLIDES
WITH ENGINE, 1 KILLED

Milwaukee—Several investigations were under way today into a collision between a switch engine and a street car here last night, which resulted in one death and injuries to a score of persons. Nine of the more seriously injured were taken to emergency hospital, and three others seriously injured were taken to their homes.

The accident happened when a switch engine backed out of a company yard onto the car tracks in the southwest section of the city.

A blinding snowstorm raging at the time is said to have made it impossible for the crews to see only a few feet.

Daniel Kiely, 50, veteran interurban conductor, on his way home in the street car, was crushed to death. Both members of the car crew were injured.

The flagman at the crossing could not be found after the accident.

IN NATION'S BIGGEST CITIESTEXANS LYNCH
WHITE MAN FOR KILLING "COP"Lynching Is Climax of Series of Crimes in Fort Worth in Last Few Months.By United Press Leased Wire
Fort Worth, Texas—Tom Vickery, a white man, held on a charge of murdering Jeff C. Couch, a policeman, Monday night, was taken from the county jail here shortly after midnight by a mob and hanged.

After Vickery was suspended in midair, the mob fired several shots into his body and dispersed. The lynching was staged about a mile from the courthouse, between Fort Worth and North Fort Worth.

The jailer at the county jail was overpowered by about 35 masked men. The man dragged Vickery from his cell, loaded him in an automobile and drove to the vicinity of the Samuels avenue bridge where they parked their cars so the headlights would illuminate the hackberry tree on which he was hanged. The hanging was so quietly conducted that the majority of the sleeping city was unaware of what was going on.

Vickery was arrested Monday night after the killing of Policeman Couch at a local taxi company garage. Police had received a report that Vickery, who was a tax driver, while in an intoxicated condition had shot a man and sent Couch to arrest him.

At the time Couch was killed, Vickery was under bond for killing another man, John Little, some time ago.

Lynching of Vickery climaxed a series of murders and a wave of robberies and lesser crimes in Fort Worth the last few months.

POLITICIAN KILLED IN
QUARREL OVER WOMANBy United Press Leased Wire
South Bend, Ind.—Dallas A. Anderson, 39, said to have been prominently known as a politician in St. Paul and Chicago, was instantly killed here shortly before noon today following a quarrel with Mack Attyeo.

According to police, Attyeo fired four shots at Anderson, each of which took effect.

The quarrel, according to police, was the result of a love affair.

Attyeo made no attempt to escape and was waiting for the police when they arrived. Anderson roomed and boarded at the home of Mrs. Emma Emerick where the quarrel was staged.

DEMOCRATS IN SENATE FIGHT
FARM TARIFFFilibustering Tactics Started
Before New Bill Reaches
Upper House.By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Opponents of the emergency tariff bill today started tactics of delay against it in the senate even before the passage of the bill by the house had been officially announced.

Senator Harrison, Mississippi, started the filibustering by demanding a roll call of the senate as soon as it met.

Senator Ashurst, Arizona, urged Harrison to withdraw his request, but Harrison insisted.

Then Senator Thomas, Colorado, talked at length on dyestuffs, immigration, the Colombian treaty and other subjects.

When the tariff bill was laid before the senate, following Thomas' speech, Harrison objected to second reading. This prevented the bill being referred to committee and as the senate plans to adjourn today until Monday, no action on the bill will be possible until then.

The house, by a vote of 196 to 85, late last night passed the emergency tariff bill.

Supporting the bill in the house were a majority of the Republicans and a minority of the Democrats. A considerable number of Republicans from industrial sections severely criticized the measures as class legislation which would increase the cost of living.

The lineup by parties was: For—154 Republicans, 41 Democrats, and 1 Prohibitionist. Opposing—72 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

MASTER BUILDERS ELECT M. BOLDT

Contractors Oppose 'Cost Plus' System of Awarding Building Contracts.

Mark H. Boldt was re-elected president of Appleton Master Builders' association at the annual meeting Tuesday evening at the association hall. Other officers are: John Leonard, vice-president; Henry Lauer, secretary; Louis Waltman, treasurer; Herman Forpinner, trustee. Mr. Boldt and Mr. Lauer were elected delegates to the state convention of Master Builders in Japeville, Jan. 12 to 14.

Business prospects for next year were discussed but no action was taken. It was generally believed that wages and other building conditions will depend largely upon the attitude of the public. There was considerable opposition to the "cost plus" plan of awarding contracts on the ground that contractors working under that plan are in a position to pay higher wages than those who must submit definite figures and considerable dissatisfaction is the result.

Miss Olga M. Keller returned Wednesday from St. Joseph Academy, Green Bay, to spend the holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Keller.

J. P. Johnson of Granton, spent Wednesday here on business.

NO CONGESTION IN LOCAL POSTOFFICE

Loyal Postal Force Remains on Job Until Every Parcel Is Dispatched.

Wednesday was the busiest day of the holiday rush at the post office but the force is still holding its own. In line with its policy to prevent the office from being swamped at any time, the clerks remained at their posts until every piece of mail had been dispatched.

The office showed the results of the untiring efforts of the clerks on Thursday morning, for the mailing division was cleared of letters and packages and the incoming mail was all assorted and on its way over the city routes. A total of 20,000 letters and postal cards was run through the cancelling machine in 12 hours from nine o'clock in the morning to nine o'clock at night. There was an avalanche of parcels that made the office look like bedlam when the windows were closed.

The STAGE

Frank Winninger
The Frank Winninger Comedy Company will open its engagement at the Bijou with Patricia Collinge's great Blackstone Theatre success "Tillie" adapted from the well known story "Tillie, A Mennonite Maid."

"Tillie" is a quaint comedy of unique types, dealing with the life in a Pennsylvania Dutch colony, and abounds with clean cut comedy. Frank Winninger plays the part of "Doc" Weaver the principal comedy role, and as the kind hearted old Dutch doctor will demonstrate that he has lost none of his old time ability of making people laugh.

Frank has surrounded himself with an excellent cast of players and will present some of the latest royalty plays during his engagement here, including Peter B. Kyne's famous "Garry Ricks" and Pauline Frederick's "The Woman in Room 12."

NO ADVERTISING IN NEW
POULTRY SHOW CATALOGUE

Not a line of advertising appears in the new catalogue of the Fox River Valley Poultry and Pet Stock association which is just off the press. Copies may be obtained at the George Loos harness shop. Directors and officers of the association did not want to trouble merchants for advertising this year because of the liberal support they had given in former years.

One of the features of the new catalogue is the list of $500 prizes which will be split among all classes and varieties. No admission will be charged this year and it is believed the largest crowd in the history of the show here will see the exhibits. The dates are January 26 to 30.

Miss Emma Stern leaves for her home at Bonduel Friday, where she will spend Christmas.

TRAINS NEAR SCHEDULE
DESPITE SNOW DRIFTS

Transportation has not been seriously delayed by the heavy snow storm Wednesday. Trains were practically on time up to the early morning hours when the snow began to drift somewhat. None are running more than one and a half hours late.

The country roads are still in good condition, although the drifts are deep at some places. It is hardly possible to make headway with automobiles until the highways are plowed out, but traffic with horses is not difficult.

Outagamie Farmers Form Cooperative Trade Association

New Buying and Selling Organization Will Work Independently of Equity—Speakers Plead for Co-operation and Constructive Action.

"Resolved, That we favor a county association to cooperate in buying and selling collectively. Any local favoring such association that wants to unite with us will have the privilege of doing so. We favor the appointment of a committee of five to draw up a constitution and bylaws and to have power to call a meeting whenever it sees fit to do so."

The above resolution was presented at the meeting of farmers called by Henry Thiel, manager of the Outagamie Equity Exchange, at the courthouse Wednesday afternoon and was passed unanimously. It was drafted by a committee consisting of F. A. Ziegler, George Schmidt, William Wunderlich, George A. Krickenberg and Henry Huphauf upon motion of C. B. Ballard, who wanted to know if there was not some plan by which the farmers could organize this county around the cooperative organization which they already had.

Wunderlich, John Schwammer, Gregor Bass and Henry Huphauf. E. H. Kirklin of Ellington acted as secretary of the meeting.

Not Official Meeting

In response to the statement of Otto Rohm that the meeting was not called by the county American Society of Equity and therefore it was not an official county meeting, the chairman stated the county officials were not invited to the meeting.

"The meeting was called," said Mr. Thiel, "for the sole purpose of cooperation. This is not a political convention. It is a meeting called for the purpose of getting together and working out a real farmer's program."

"The first thing to decide at this meeting," said C. B. Ballard, "is whether or not the members of the present organization in this county want to continue with the organization, or whether they do not. You heard a great deal at the state convention and heard a great deal since that time that members were not satisfied with the arrangement and it seems to me the first thing to do is to decide whether the majority want to go on or withdraw from the organization, whether you want a committee appointed to take this matter up and have this committee report on resolutions and vote on them or take action in any other way that seems best."

Many Have Withdrawn

"As a matter of fact," said Chairman Thiel in addressing the meeting, "some locals have already withdrawn. Badger Local voted to go out and Center Valley, and Center has also voted. Now, let us forget the past. As a matter of fact, members are dropping out all over, becoming disinterested, and it seems to me the one thing to do here, if we want to stay together, is to organize right here today, form a county organization, whether the Equity society has anything to do with it or not. Let us forget those things, and let us organize along lines that will be of benefit to farmers. It seems to me the main thing to do is to form this organization. Get together, pay our money into our own treasury, and get out and do home work."

"I am very much pleased," said F. R. Tilly, "with the chairman's remarks. I realize that many of the men at this meeting are outside of the Equity society. They feel that the progress has been too slow, but if the progress has been too slow we ourselves are to blame. I am not here leading for the Equity only, but am leading for cooperation. Keep your eye on cooperation. Cooperative societies must work together in this state. You cannot disband or drop out. Every cooperative institution in Wisconsin must unite in one marketing channel. No matter what the buying or selling, it must be done through one channel. I ask you men not to pass a resolution or get up on this floor to condemn the Equity. I am asking you not to condemn an organization that is a help. We cannot build up anything substantial by tearing down something else. Let us not go on record here as condemning any society. If there is anything to build up let us build up and not tear down.

"We have men in the county affiliated with the chamber of commerce," said F. H. Kirklin, "and with labor organizations. You will never get anywhere that way. If you get anywhere you have got to get there as farmers. Don't let the other fellow be first." Mr.

MASTER PRINTERS TO MEET AT GREEN BAY

Green Bay has been selected as the next meeting place for the Fox River Valley Typothetae, composed of master printers. About 50 members will gather at the court house January 4 to take up important matters left over from the December meeting at Fond du Lac. The February meeting is to be at Manitowish.

Richard Meyer, Appleton, is president; George Harrington, Oshkosh, treasurer; Miss Clara Giger, Green Bay, secretary. The association was organized last summer.

Kirklin said that he believed in co-operation, but that there were different ways and called attention to that kind which begins at the top and builds down instead of beginning at the bottom and building up.

Talks Farm Bureau

William Hurst of Seymour took exception to the statement that members of the American Society were withdrawing everywhere in the county and said the local at Seymour was to take in a class of 36 candidates that night. The local started with a charter membership of 17 and Mr. Hurst said they expected to increase it to 250.

R. R. Runkey of Fond du Lac addressed the meeting in the interest of the Farm Bureau and upon the necessity of disposing of farm products through a single selling agency, especially cheese. "You can do nothing greater in 1921 than to investigate the cheese situation," said Mr. Runkey, "and get busy at it right away. It is the agency the Marketing Division, the State Agricultural society and the Farm Bureau are supporting. Don't let anybody tell you what happened in the past. Let us forget these things and start anew. Let us build up something worth while."

J. Weiler Long of Madison was called upon and said in part:

Would Buy Past

"I am not a farmer, but I have been a farmer's hired hand for twelve years organizing the American Society of Equity when we charged only a dollar to get in and didn't get all of that. It didn't make any difference what kind of weather, rain or sunshine, we had to keep going, and the Equity society today, or at least a year and a half ago, is the result of the work of the men who went through the trials and tribulations of its early history."

"I want to say to you men here, let us bury the past; let us forget it. Let us keep an eye single to the great object and aim of the American Society of Equity. If you men have a desire to leave the organization because of its mismanagement, that is your business and not mine. If any of you men wish to remain in the American Society of Equity under the present management, that is your business not mine. You have a perfect right to remain in the Society. Let us keep our eye upon the cooperative spirit that has been built up in this state, and let us be willing and broad enough to cooperate with farmer organizations."

"The Farm Bureau is now entering this state. If any of you want to join it, that is your business. If any of you want to join the grange that is also your business, not mine. If any of you want to retire from the American Society of Equity it is better you retire as friends than enemies."

SEES EARLY END OF BUSINESS SLUMP

Business Expert Believes Normal Basis Will Be Reached in Thirty Days.

In an opinion presented to the Appleton Chamber of Commerce by Archer Wall Douglass, chairman of the committee on statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, he states that the bottom of the present business depression will be reached in the next 30 days.

Mr. Douglass holds that the law of supply and demand is functioning in such a way that conditions will stabilize themselves as soon as the public adjusts itself to changed conditions brought about by a return to normal.

"Advances of any moment in the prices of agricultural products will materially change the situation for the better," he stated, "and reductions in the prices of commodities are likely to cause increased business in all industrial sections."

Unfounded fears last spring of bread lines in the cities have changed to a startling realization of a harvest so great that an adequate market cannot be found for our surplus products. The law of supply and demand therefore ensues, decreasing that overproduction is always accompanied by falling prices. Mr. Douglass states that this is true of cotton, rice, potatoes and grain.

Farmers are found to be holding crops for higher prices and are not selling unless forced to by pressure from bankers and merchants to whom they are indebted. Bankers are chary about extending further credit and merchants are buying only enough stock with which to do business. This means a much lessened volume of business, rigid economy on all hands, close collections and a general return to a strictly cash basis.

ARRANGE SPECIAL TRAIN FOR BLAINE INAUGURAL

Appleton men who expect to attend the inauguration of James J. Blaine as governor of Wisconsin January 3 will be interested to know that a special train will carry several hundred Blaine boosters from Milwaukee to the capital. Several Appleton men have received invitations to attend the inauguration and the inaugural ball and it is probable the city will be well represented.

The special train will be made up at Milwaukee and will leave that city at eight o'clock on the morning of January 3, reaching Madison in plenty of time for the ceremonies. The train is to leave Madison for Milwaukee shortly after 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, January 4, and will be sidetracked in Milwaukee to permit travelers to sleep until about seven o'clock. The inauguration will be one of the most elaborate official functions in Madison in several years, according to information received here.

U. S. MAN IS NAMED TO WORLD C. OF C.

Better Commercial Relations Anticipated When World Chamber Functions.

Organization of the International Chamber of Commerce with headquarters at Paris virtually amounts to a "business league of nations." Many of the leading countries including United States, Belgium, Italy and others have already named commissioners.

Frederick P. Keppel has been named American administrative commissioner, according to notice received from the national chamber by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Keppel explains that the international commercial body was organized as an agency through which business men of the world might reach common conclusions and give practical and useful effect to their common judgments. Avoidance of waste and conflict of efforts will probably result.

He believes international friction will be removed, commercial intercourse of nations facilitated, international trade safeguarded, laws and documents affecting commerce standardized, and the production of the world increased. Personal acquaintance

QUIT MEAT IF YOUR KIDNEYS ACT BADLY

Take Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers—Drink Lots of Water

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in hand or feet, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active. adv.

lanceship among business men and bankers of different nations will decrease prejudice. Peace, progress and cordial relations among the countries and their citizens by cooperation of business men and their organizations is anticipated as one of the results.

"I can heartily endorse Kozak for rundown, nervous folks who are troubled with headaches and dizzy, fainting spells because it was this medicine that gave me relief from those troubles when others had failed," said Mrs. Lucy Urquhart, 2014 Ella Court, Marinette, Wis., Monday.

"I didn't have much of an appetite, my nerves were upset and I always felt weak, debilitated in head, my food refused to digest and even my kidneys were in bad shape. A friend got me to take Kozak. As a result I feel better today than I have in years. My appetite is very good; headaches have gone; nerves are much stronger; I am continuing it's use until satisfied that I am perfectly well."

THE OUTSTRETCHED HANDS

If there were starving children in the next block and you knew it you would not sit down to your own Christmas dinner until you were sure they had food, would you? No, sir, you would say: "No little children who are my neighbors are going to go hungry this day, if I know it."

Well, the great war which we found we could not keep out of has given us many new neighbors. And in Europe today there are 3,500,000 sad-faced children who look to us to save them from the last tortures of actual, gnawing starvation. They are just as much our neighbors today as if they lived just around the corner or in the next block. No one could have put it better than did President Wilson when he said the other day:

"I suggest to my fellow countrymen that the circles around their Christmas trees will be incomplete unless, mingled with their own expectant children, they shall visualize some of the waifs of Europe, stretching out their thin hands to pluck from the boughs of the trees, not toys, but bread, without which they must perish."

Could you really enjoy the big-eyed wonder and happiness of your own child on Christmas morning unless you knew you had done your bit for the little ones over there who have no daddy's loving care and protection? The way is easy now. At Herbert Hoover's request an Outagamie county committee has been named to accept your offering together with that of all other fathers who feel about children as you do. Such offerings may be left with any Outagamie County Bank. On Christmas day we want no vision of emaciated little boys and girls looking at us with mute reproach through dull sunken eyes.

SHOULD BE STOPPED

The American Farm Bureau urges congress to prohibit short selling on the Board of Trade and agricultural products. This includes food, wool and cotton, all necessities of life.

Short selling is selling something the seller hasn't got, and usually something he never expects to have. It is a gambling trick well worn by frequent Board of Trade usage. One gambler, seeking to force down the price of wheat, say, so that he, or another may buy wheat at a lower figure than then obtaining, "sells" a million bushels of wheat. He doesn't really sell any wheat. He merely agrees to deliver so many bushels by a certain fixed date. He hopes the market price will have dropped by delivery day. His paper sale helps to depress the market. If he, or his confederates, continue making these paper, or fictitious sales the price of real wheat falls. That is the golden opportunity of the grain speculator who often is a miller, too. The man who grew the wheat suffers by reason of the price reduction.

Short selling is nothing but betting that the price of wheat, or whatever it is, will be lower at a fixed date than it is on the date of the sale. Long buying results in a price increase. Long buying is buying what the buyer doesn't want and doesn't expect to get. The buyer hopes to unload before he has to accept the wheat. Long buying usually is started after short selling has beaten down the farmer's price. When the speculators get the product in their hands they begin the campaign of long buying. The price leaps upward. They profit. That is the gambler's profit. The producer loses. The consumer doesn't gain. Frequently he too, loses.

It is a vicious circle which squeezes both the farmer and the consumer. Short selling particularly is an economic crime against the real producers of the country. It ought to be prohibited by law when it is purely a gambling operation, and probably nine-tenths of the short selling on the Board of Trade is of this character.

A FRIEND OF ARMENIA

The Armenians have found a friend at last. When all the pharisee nations had passed by on the other side, along came the Bolsheviks and gave them a helping hand. It is not to be held against the Armenians that they took that hand, as the only one outstretched in a time of bitter need.

Such government as the remnant of the Armenian nation possesses is now a soviet government, set up in Erivan by representatives of Russian Bolshevism. The Armenians are now the acknowledged proteges of Lenin and Trotsky. Those puissant Reds have passed the word to Mustafa Kemal, and the latter has grudgingly desisted from the pleasant task of exterminating the Armenian race.

So the Armenians have peace—but at what a price. It is a price, too, that the pharisee powers, including the United States, may yet have to help pay. Whether the arbitration commission headed by President Wilson, appointed to make peace between the Armenians and Turks, can accomplish much now is doubtful. Word may come from Moscow that if there is any arbitrating to be done, Lenin will take care of it.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE

Agitation for a stricter observance of Sunday is a natural result of the war. In every great human struggle, the spirit asserts itself. Throughout the war, spiritual values counted for more than shot and shell. When peace came, people returned to materialism with all the impetus of their new freedom from the conflict. Now, however, the reaction from the hard egotism of material competition, intensified by war hatreds, has begun. The Sunday observance movement is the result. If enlightened and inspired leaders feel their way carefully, they will win. Sunday should be more than a holiday. It can be made to rest the body and yet give an ever useful reminder that the body is not all.

Man craves an appeal to the spiritual. The world is ripe for a new statement of old spiritual problems, with modern answers. Nothing interests a group of intelligent persons more than a discussion of spirit. Perhaps, therefore, the present low esteem of Sunday is not due to the laymen at all. Perhaps reform should start within the churches. The pulpit appeals may be at fault. They may carry the wrong messages. The priestcraft, whose responsibilities are so great, must examine within as well as without. If the right solution is found America will respond.

REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS

No wonder the representatives of the forty-odd nations at Geneva are disposed to defer practical discussion of the question of disarmament. A Chinese delegate remarked, with obvious truth, that "practically nothing can be done for the reduction of armaments unless America associates herself with the League." At present, out of every dollar of the United States governments money 93 cents is being spent on past wars and in preparation for wars to come. All the other great nations are struggling beneath similarly appalling military costs, and, however much they would like to be free of the burden, they feel that they must continue to stagger beneath the load as long as even one powerful country does not agree to the reduction of armaments. Every great nation without exception must agree before the first real step can be taken.

Even then there would be difficulties. France, for example, regards the complete execution of the treaty of Versailles as an imperative prerequisite, and this at the best would take a long time. The French know that if they had not had a trained army of 800,000 men the German scheme of overrunning Europe in a few months would have succeeded, and they fear that even under universal agreement to reduce armaments the Germans would secretly prepare for further military aggression. Disarmament is a most complicated proposition, yet urgent and sustained effort toward that end is imperative. The present burden is more than ever one that all nations, including the United States, should not carry. Yet it is certain nothing will be done to reduce armaments unless through the League of Nations, and then only with the United States a member.

THE CAUSE OF MIGRAINE

No one can account for the occurrence of epilepsy and no one can account for the occurrence of migraine in certain families, but we know that these conditions both prevail in some families as inherited states. One or both parents may have been an alcoholic habitue, hysterical, an epileptic, a subject of migraine, or mentally abnormal; one or more children in such a family will be likely to be neurotic, epileptic, subject to migraine or some mental abnormality.

Most cases of migraine begin in early youth or young adult life. Few cases begin after thirty. This is also true of epilepsy. As I have said before, good students of the subject have described migraine (periodic one-sided sick headaches ushered in by brilliant or blind scotomata) as the "sensory equivalent" of epileptic seizures.

In an individual with the hereditary migrainous disposition, then, it is probable that various minor defects or disturbances may precipitate or favor the occurrence of migraine seizures—defects which would scarcely annoy a person with sound nervous stability. Thus, that ordinary degree of eyestrain which practically every civilized individual presents if examined, may in some cases be a definite factor and one worthy of the careful attention of a good oculist. But it is futile and illogical to imagine that this well known universal imperfection of vision is a frequent factor of headaches of any kind, for experience has shown that the eyestrain is really concerned in only three in every hundred cases.

Likewise fatigue, constipation, excessive indulgence in food, emotional upsets of any kind, may be the exciting cause in the case of an individual who has the migrainous disposition. Those who are content to conceive "biliousness" as an itching cause should learn that the usual factor of "biliousness" is not the liver or any shortcomings in its function but overeating or lack of sufficient exercise, or both.

Nearly a third of all cases of migraine begin in childhood, sometime between the fifth and tenth years of age, and the other two-thirds appear in youth or early adult life. Supposed migraine or similar attacks appearing for the first time after the age of thirty, suggest, like late appearing epileptic attacks, some developing lesion of the nervous system rather than true migraine, or, if it be an epileptic trouble, true epilepsy. Thus insidious abcess of the brain, brain tumor, and apoplexy have been mistaken for migraine appearing in individuals over thirty.

Decayed teeth are sometimes a precipitating factor of migraine, even though there is no toothache. Slight abnormalities within the nasal chambers have apparently precipitated migraine in numerous instances. In children with this disposition, therefore, the teeth and the nose and throat require careful examination.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Moles

I have two moles on my face that I want taken off. A friend, a druggist, advised acetic acid. I tried it and had an awful face for a week, but still have the moles. What would you suggest? (Miss L. J. P.)

ANSWER—Various methods of removing moles are used by physicians and surgeons who treat skin diseases. The electric needle, carbon dioxide snow, radium, excision—it depends on the individual circumstances. Trifling with such blemishes is most unwise.

Calomel

It is safe to give a child three years old calomel in repeated small doses at frequent intervals? (S. W. M.)

ANSWER—Unless for the treatment of syphilis I should not call it safe. If the purpose is to physic the child, there are innumerable medicines without the objections that apply to calomel. If the idea is that calomel is a mysterious "corrective" or that it has some mysterious effect on the liver, that is mere superstition and does not justify feeding the child a potential poison, certainly not as a domestic custom or habit. I would have to have much confidence in the doctor before I would let him give me or my child any calomel. There is no good excuse for using mercury for the purpose of catharsis. Like the castor oil fetiche, the calomel habit just is because it always has been, and that's a poor therapeutic indication.

Physical Director's Notion

A physical director tells me that if any man's blood pressure varies more than five points above or below his age in years, that is proof he is not right. I am 50 years old, and my pressure is 127 points, so according to him my blood must be too sluggish. What do you say? (B. T. C.)

ANSWER—A man of fifty with a systolic pressure of 127 millimeters mercury is to be congratulated, so far as his blood pressure is concerned—and condoned on the defective training of the physical director of the institution he patronizes.

The Dry Point Of View.
By Frederic J. Haskin.

Washington, D. C.—More laws to enforce prohibition and stricter enforcement of the laws already passed. This the gist of the billigerent program with which the Anti-Saloon League approached the beginning of a new administration. It is backed by a Congress overwhelmingly pledged to enforcement of prohibition and to no modification of the laws in the way of leniency, and it is faced by the fact that the prohibition amendment is being widely and variously broken.

The question of enforcement is now admitted to be the crucial one. That is, there seems to be no doubt but that the prohibitionists can pass all the laws that are needed. They dominate not only Congress but most of the state legislatures. Thirty-eight states have already passed enforcement codes, and it is predicted that most of the others will speedily do so.

But passing a law is one thing and enforcing it is another. In spite of all these laws, liquor is pouring into the country over both borders and through every port. It is being illicitly made and sold. It is being made in many homes by the occupants thereof for their own use, and these illicit makers of beer, wine and whisky include persons of a great variety of classes, poor and rich, rural and urban.

Can this wave of lawlessness be checked? The prohibitionists have presumably convinced the American public that prohibition is a good thing if it can be made effective. If it gives rise merely to an elaborate system of lawbreaking, then the question legitimately arises again, as to whether it is a good thing in such circumstances. In other words, the best point of attack which the opponents of prohibition have is that a law which cannot be enforced is worse than no law at all, and that intelligent regulation, which could be enforced, would undoubtedly be better than complete prohibition which cannot be enforced.

Prohibition on Trial

The prohibitionists evidently realize this fact. Prohibition may be considered to be on trial now as a practical proposition, just as it was an trial for a long time as a theoretical proposition. If it cannot be made effective, if it gives rise merely to an elaborate system of lawbreaking, then the question legitimately arises again, as to whether it is a good thing in such circumstances. In other words, the best point of attack which the opponents of prohibition have is that a law which cannot be enforced is worse than no law at all, and that intelligent regulation, which could be enforced, would undoubtedly be better than complete prohibition which cannot be enforced.

The present situation seems to be about this: Whiskey of the standard distillery brands can be purchased in most large cities by anyone who can pay from eight to twelve dollars a quart for it. Various moonshine brews can be purchased in many rural sections. Certain alleged medicines, containing large percentages of alcohol and prescribed on the bottle to be taken in doses of several glasses a day, may be purchased at very reasonable prices in drug stores and delicatessen stores almost everywhere. Above all, almost anyone who has ordinary cooking facilities can make in his home either ale, beer, wine or whisky, and beyond a doubt great numbers of persons do so. How can all of these breaches of law, and especially the last one, be stopped?

We talked this matter over with Wayne B. Wheeler, who is general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, and has often been referred to as the brains of that organization. His point of view is most interesting and presumably may be taken as representative of that of the active prohibitionists in general. A profound faith in law and in police power is the basis of Mr. Wheeler's philosophy. He sees the present wave of law breaking as a more temporary thing which will inevitably be crushed.

"The law breaker always falls," he says, "He may give us a lot of trouble, but we will get him in the long run."

He outlined at some length how the illicit sale of liquor would be checked by laws governing the disposal of whisky in warehouses, by strengthening the enforcement organization, and by a campaign of education against lawlessness.

"The man who breaks the law is a traitor and ought to be shot," he said. He added that the American people could not hope to stamp out bolshevism and anarchy as long as they tolerated the lawlessness of those who break the prohibition amendment. The Anti-Saloon League, he intimated, will devote much of its educational effort to driving home this idea. In other words, it will try to make the man who breaks the prohibition law an object of social odium. That is undoubtedly the one thing which is lacking. It is considered no disgrace to "make your own." The best people do it. The methods are discussed at the most fashionable and otherwise respectable gatherings.

The prohibitionists recognize this as a lamentable state of affairs. They realize that men do not fear the punishments of the law half as much as they fear the bad opinion of their fellows. They propose therefore to make the liquor-law-breaker a pariah, to put him in the same class with the busy-bearded bomb-brandishing bolshevist of the cartoons.

This would be easy if he were an isolated figure. But it will be hard when there are large, solid blocks of such lawbreakers, when whole communities and especially whole social classes feel the same way about it.

The Elusive Home-brewer

Mr. Wheeler was convincing in his statement of how prohibition will be enforced, except in the matter of home-brewing. There indeed is the difficult part of the job. To restrict the sale of malt and hops will hardly solve the problem, for you can make a good beverage out of almost any fruit or vegetable, and the ways of doing it are multiplying and spreading. Unless the right of a man's home to be free from search without warrant is abolished, so that prohibition agents can ransack our houses at regular intervals for evidences of liquor making, the prevention by police power of home-brewing and distilling seems hardly practicable.

This is tacitly admitted to a certain extent by the prohibitionists who say that they depend on their campaign against the spirit of lawlessness to do the work. Mr. Wheeler adds to this another argument.

"The making of various home-brews," he says, "is novelty now. But the novelty will wear off, and it will be forgotten."

This is an interesting speculation. It is a bit confusing to the unprejudiced inquirer, because, when the prohibition movement was in the propaganda stage, we were told that drinking alcohol was an insidious and tenacious habit. If once a man got in the habit of drinking liquor, we were told, he would do almost anything to gratify the appetite so acquired. Surely if this is true, the home-brewer's love for his brew will grow rather than dwindle with time.

We ventured to point out to Mr. Wheeler that many who break the prohibition law do so in the belief that it is a violation of their personal liberty, and that they are therefore justified in lawlessness. It was inquired what would be the prohibition reply to this viewpoint.

"There is no such thing as personal liberty under a civilized government," said Mr. Wheeler. "Personal liberty ends where public wrong begins. There is only civil liberty, which is liberty under law."

This impromptu statement must evidently be taken as suggestive rather than complete. It leaves one to puzzle out for himself the nature of a civil liberty which is not personal, and how public wrongs should spring from individual rights. None the less, Mr. Wheeler makes the prohibitionist point of view pretty clear.

"Better law enforcement. More laws. And the man who breaks them is a traitor and ought to be shot." Whatever else it means, it evidently means business.

CUTICURA HEALS INTENSE ITCHING

Face and Forehead Covered With Pimples and Blisters. Lost Rest.

"My face and forehead were covered with blotches and pimples, and the itching and burning were intense. I had trouble to get a good night's sleep, and my face was disfigured for the time being. I tried several remedies, without success, and then bought Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

When I had used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, with the Cuticura Soap, I was healed." (Signed) William Kirkholder, 1358 Ontario St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum promote and maintain skin purity, skin comfort and skin health often when all else fails.

Sample sent free by Mail. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. B, Malden, Mass." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c, Ointment 25c, Talcum 5c. Box Cuticura Soap shaves without razor.

Players in all parts of the country will be similarly entertained as the result of a nationwide movement started by some of the large booking houses. Theatrical people are usually obliged to be away from home at Christmas and the show houses are therefore taking this method of extending holiday cheer.

Married People's Club
Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Peabody, Lawrence street, entertained the Young Married People's club of the Congregational church, Wednesday evening. Dr. Peabody read Dickens' "Christmas Carol." Light refreshments were served.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

"Butchering Time." To the country housekeeper this means a lot of work, but with a good return. Spare ribs and sausage and plenty of lard to help solve many a "what to eat" problem.

Even if you live in a city and can't raise your own pork, why not buy a whole or a half a pig and cure your own hams and bacon and make some lard? A pig weighing 200 pounds will make about 40 pounds of lard besides the fresh pork roasts and sausage.

This will mean work, but it will also mean money in pocket for the effort will be worth dollars and cents.

The man of whom you buy your pig should cut it up for you. That is, cut it into the roasts and bacon strips, the hams and shoulders, the fat to render into lard, the sausage meat, the head for head cheese and the feet for pickled pigs feet. Of course the more roasts you have the less sausage; more bacon, less lard. The meat should be taken care of immediately.

The hams and shoulders may be put into brine or sugar cured. To sugar cure hams and shoulders of one pig:

2½ pounds salt
2½ ounces black pepper
½ ounce saltpetre
1 pint molasses

Rub meat first with molasses. Mix salt, pepper and saltpetre and rub into the molasses. Let stand from four to six weeks and then smoke. Let your butcher see to the smoking for you. Or the meat to be cured may be taken care of in this way. Rub the outside of each ham with a teaspoonful of powdered saltpetre, and the inside with a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper. Mix 1½ pounds of brown sugar with ½ pound salt and rub pork well with it. Have ready some large tubs, the bottom sprinkled with salt and put the meat in, skin side down. Sprinkle each layer of meat well with salt. Let stand eight days. Remove from tub, wipe salt from meat and wash tub. Take 5 ounces saltpetre, 2 ounces molasses, 2 pounds salt and 2 or 3 gallons of water. Boil and skim. Cool and pour over meat. The meat must be turned frequently while in the "pickle" to pickle it evenly. The hams should remain in the brine four weeks and the bacon three. Take out and wipe dry and send to be smoked.

Our grandmothers always rendered their lard and cured their hams and bacon and there is really no reason why we shouldn't.

"Why the Chimes Rang", a play in one act by Elizabeth McFadden adopted from the story of the same name by Raymond McDonald Allen, which was recently given by the Lawrence college dramatic action class at Lawrence Memorial chapel, will be presented by the intermediate department of Congregational Sunday school at the Christmas program Friday evening. The play tells the story of two chil-

By means of this exchange many agencies learned that another organization was helping one or more of their families and in this way the duplication of effort was avoided. Because of the illness of the broad winner in some families it was found through careful investigation that the help should be continued beyond the holiday season and these families were referred to the agency best fitted to care for the case. Other families were found where the help was encouraging dependency. A conference in these cases was of great service.

children who stand outside the cathedral on Christmas eve longing to go within. An uncle tells them the legend of the chimes and offers to take them within where they may hear the beautiful music and the Christmas program. As they are about to enter, the little boy sees an elderly lady in distress and foregoes his opportunity of entering the church because of his kindness for her. He is sad because he missed the program which he longed so to hear and tells her his story.

work, the fact was recognized that the first year's lists could not be handled without some confusion. Agencies have not been able to make a thorough investigation of all their cases, but the splendid results from most of them are more than gratifying to the social workers and welfare agencies. It is probable that some few families who deserve help at this time have been missed, but the success of the venture has been greater than any dared to hope.

OSHKOSH RECALL ELECTION FEB. 1

Mayor McHenry Orders Special Election on Petition for His Removal.

Oshkosh—Mayor A. C. McHenry and the commission council, who won a round on Tuesday in a special election proposed to oust them in favor of the old aldermanic system of city government on Wednesday called a special election for February 1, 1921, on the question of the recall of the mayor.

The mayor was elected for a six year term, and if he be recalled the successor will serve until the expiration of the term on the third Tuesday of April, 1924.

The commission council was voted from ousting by the heavy vote of women in its favor. The city voted on Tuesday on the question of abolishing the commission form of government and returning to the old aldermanic form. The commission plan won by 5,400 to 2,049.

Men who led the movement for return to the old form of government declare the forces against the commission council lost because they were divided. Some favored correcting unsatisfactory city affairs by establishing aldermanic government, while others

SCHOOL SALARY RAISES MAY BRING INJUNCTIONS

Racine—The board of education, in special session, failed to rescind action taken at a previous meeting in abrogating contracts held with Superintendent of Schools Longancho and Secretary Moritz and entering into new contracts at greatly increased salaries, but deferred action until Jan. 6.

School commissioners are of divided opinions on the legality of the action taken in abrogating contracts and entering into new ones.

Aldermen question the legality of the plan of the school board and declare that injunctive orders will be obtained to prevent payment of the increased salaries, which are effective Feb. 1.

SOME GREEN BAY MEN DRAW LARGE SALARIES

Green Bay—Salaries in Green Bay run all the way from $800 to $50,000 a year. John J. Collignon, assessor-in-chief, is authority for the statement. There are four residents of this city earning from $25,000 to $50,000 each twelve months. There are 3,617 persons here subject to the state income tax. The greater majority are in the $500 to $1,000 class, however.

ALL MEAT MARKETS WILL BE OPEN UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK THURSDAY EVENING AND WILL CLOSE AT 6 O'CLOCK FRIDAY P. M.

CHURCH IN BEAR CREEK DEDICATED

Bishop Paul P. Rode and Many Priests Attend Impressive Ceremony.

(Special to Post-Crescent.) Bear Creek—Bishop Paul G. Rode of the Green Bay was here Tuesday for the dedication of the new St. Mary church. The following priests were also present: P. Van Hurster, Walter J. Fitzmaurice, P. X. Van Nieuwen, Edward Schimberg, George Schimmer, John Kaster, Julie Vanden Elmen, John Loecker, Conrad Sallé, Joseph Esdeski, John McGinley, Peter Gromnick and Julie Crillaers.

Solemn high mass was sung by the pastor, the Rev. C. Ripp, assisted by the Rev. Peter Gromnick and Rev. Joseph Van Bogart, with the Rev. Joseph Esdeski as master of ceremonies. Henry and Aloy Stoeckbauer of Appleton were acolytes.

The bishop delivered an eloquent address and the Rev. Julie Crillaers preached a French sermon. The bishop and priests were pleased with the new church and splendid spirit of co-operation in the parish. A large number of people from other parishes were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony McCone were Clintonville callers Saturday. Miss Vivian Penny spent Saturday afternoon at New London doing Christmas shopping.

PROMINENT LEEMAN MAN BURIED SUNDAY

(Special to Post-Crescent.) Leeman—Claude Hurlburt is spending his Christmas vacation at his home here.

Merton Leeman left Monday for Denmark, Wis., where he will be employed this winter.

Summer Greeley, who has been employed near Cranston, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hurlburt and daughter Audrey, autoed to Green Bay Saturday and returned Sunday.

Malcolm Leeman was a Shiocton caller Friday.

The funeral of William Diemel was held from the Leeman church Sunday afternoon. The service was conducted by the Rev. Harry Milford of Seymour, pastor of the Leeman church.

Diemel was 58 years old and leaves his widow, three sons, William, Douglas and Vole Diemel, one daughter, Miss Alice Diemel, six grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. Anna Griffin of Rhineclander and Mrs. Elizabeth Sulavon of New York state; three brothers, Jake, George and Herman Diemel, all of this place.

SAVE LUMBER THRU FIRE PREVENTION

Northern Association Studies Plans Used at Keshena Reservation.

Oshkosh—Wisconsin lumbermen, through their association, the Northern Hemlock and Hardwood Manufacturers' association, will take up plans this winter for preventing forest fires, which, lumbermen claim, is the step of importance, second only to reforestation, which is necessary to insure a supply of lumber to coming generations.

Some years the destruction by fire is far in excess of the standing timber cut by operators.

To grow a new stand of timber in this state would require not less than 100 years, it is pointed out. When the interest at even as little as 3 per cent for that length of time is added to the initial cost of reforestation, and when the uncertainty of what conditions will be in 100 years is taken into account, it seems almost impossible to interest capital in any plan for growing new forest.

The problem of preventing fires seems almost equally insurmountable, lumbermen say. No effective system of patrol has yet been devised at a cost that is not prohibitive, but lumbermen are ready, they say, to cooperate with state and federal forestry departments as soon as some feasible scheme shall be worked out.

It is obvious that forest fires will not go across land that is clean, free from underbrush, fire weed or slash, the tops and limbs and "lost" logs that naturally result from woods operations. But to date the cost of cleaning up after lumber operations has been prohibitive.

Problem Will Be Studied.

Investigations will be made this winter of a plan put into operation on the Keshena reservation by the forestry department officials of the Indian service. Some experiments have been made along the lines of felling trees so that a pile of tops of hemlock and other soft wood trees is formed, with trees of hardwood falling on top of this pile. It has been claimed that a "clean burn" of the slash can be made in this way and that fewer logs are lost in the slash when it is so handled.

The most optimistic boosters for this plan declare that enough logs are saved to pay the cost of any additional expense that arises through operation of the plan.

There is still to be met, even if this plan proves feasible, the fact that on burned over tracts there is a quick growth of fire weed, through which fire travels with as great devastation as through scattered slash.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easy to prepare, and mixes about 7¢.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any drug-store can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes the tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membrane that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

FARMER ARRESTED FOR STEALING RUM

Kenosha County Man Accused of Stealing $35,000 Worth of Liquor.

Milwaukee—N. Schubz, a Kenosha farmer, and his son, Edward, were arrested late Wednesday afternoon on federal warrants charging them with the illegal transportation and possession of the $35,000 worth of whisky which was mysteriously stolen from the Badger Non-Beverage company's warehouse here last week.

Twenty of the twenty-six missing barrels of liquor are alleged to have been stored on their farm, six miles west of Kenosha.

Four other men suspected of being implicated in the theft were examined by United States District Attorney Sawyer Wednesday afternoon and later released. Two of these men are said to have operated the truck which carried the "booze" loot from the storage house at Fifth and Violet streets to Kenosha.

Six Others Sought

The whisky was not recovered but government agents working on the case expect to locate it before Thursday. Six Kenoshans who are under surveillance are believed to be where the liquor is now stored. The government sprung a surprise by suddenly taking a hand in the case Tuesday afternoon. The Milwaukee police, who had been working on the mystery, have already arrested three men. They were brought to the federal building where Mr. Sawyer questioned them and then ordered them placed under arrest.

MAYOR HALL RESIGNS TO ASSUME STATE JOB

Green Bay—Elmer S. Hall will resign as mayor of Green Bay next week and start for Madison to be inaugurated as secretary of state. A score or more republicans and admirers of the mayor will be there. They will catch the special inaugural train at Milwaukee.

WOMAN AND AUTOMOBILE EXCITE STEVENS POINT

Stevens Point—Sensational developments followed the arrival here of a woman driver in a big touring car and a police dragnet was spread to Wausau and other central Wisconsin points in an effort to apprehend her, but without success. She is wanted in connection with the alleged theft of the car, believed to have been stolen at Minneapolis. She left in a taxi for Wausau when an investigation gave promise of unraveling her story.

Doubling back after she reached Knowlton, she returned here and took another direction while police searched Wausau in vain. Her nervousness and peculiar actions aroused the suspicions of garage men when she stopped to get repairs, and she made flattering offers of money to any man who would drive her to Milwaukee.

She registered at a local hotel as Helen Thomas, giving her home as St. Paul. It was learned that a woman who answered her description registered at a hotel at Owen under the name of "Miss Scott." A package found in the car bears the last name of the man in Minneapolis who reported that his car had been stolen.

MOOSE LODGE HAS CHRISTMAS EVENT

Program and Christmas Tree Feature Meeting Wednesday Evening.

About 250 people attended the Christmas program given by the Loyd Order of Moose at Castle hall Wednesday evening. The feature number was a piano solo "Sextette from Lucia," played by Lavahn Maesch using only his left hand.

The opening number was a piano solo "In Nature's Cathedral," by Miss Gertrude Zuehlke. Recitations were given by Miss Veronica Robedeau, Sheldon Hauer, Miss Eleanor Herick, Stewart Elmer, Wilbur Tesch, Howard Lueders and Philip Quigley. A piano solo, "Christmas Eve," was played by Miss Sylvia Gledorf. "The Butterfly," by Everett Roudsouni, a piano duet, "With Heart and Soul," by Margaret and Francis Rooney. Songs were sung by Miss Alice Cavert, Dorothy and Clio Prior, Katherine Quigley, and Harlan Smith.

A beautifully decorated Christmas tree stood at the front of the hall. Santa Claus appeared at the conclusion of the program and gave each child a present. Lunch was served by the women of Mooseheart Legion.

Carl Grien left Thursday for Waukegan to attend the funeral of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Fred Minton.

Dr. Harold Playman is in Chicago.

FARMERS HOLDING ON TO POTATOES

Crop Report Shows Northeastern Farmers Are Holding 70 Per Cent of Crop.

Seventy per cent of the 1920 potato crop in northeastern Wisconsin, which includes Outagamie county, is still in the hands of the producers, according to the December report of Joseph A. Becker of the co-operative crop reporting service. Last year only 40 per cent of the crop was in the growers' hands at this season. It is estimated that 1,660 carloads are still available for shipment, compared with 740 a year ago.

The fact that only six tenths of one per cent of the planted acreage was not dug indicates that labor conditions last fall were favorable. Of Wisconsin's 1920 potato crop of 25,900 cars, 87 per cent, or 17,400 cars, was still in the hands of farmers on December 1. A year ago 38 per cent of the commercial crop of 22,000 cars, or 8,390 cars, was still in the hands of farmers.

Completed tabulation of railroad statistics shows that shipments of the 1919 crop from Wisconsin stations totaled 22,000 cars compared to 25,700 in 1918. The forecast of the 1919 crop made by reporting service in October 1919 was 20,900 cars. Because of very high prices prevailing, stocks were sold out more closely than for many years and shipments continued until late in June.

The percentage of the crop lost after harvest through freezing, rot and other causes was 2.3 per cent in 1920, compared to 5.3 per cent for the 1919 crop. The percentage of the planted acreage which was not dug is small—.64 per cent, compared to 1.7 per cent a year ago.

The final estimate on commercial apple production in Wisconsin shows no change from the November estimate. It is estimated that 64 per cent of a full crop, or 130,000 barrels, was produced compared to 125,000 barrels last year and 114,000 the previous year.

It is estimated that 20 per cent of the crop is still in the hands of growers, compared to 23 per cent November 1. Movement to market has been very restricted since that time. It is estimated that of the entire crop sold, 21 per cent was sold in barrels, 18 per cent in boxes, 37 per cent in bulk, and 24 per cent in the form of cider, dried apples, etc.

ACCIDENT HALTS REMOVAL OF SNOW

City Engineer Can't Find Place to Put Snow Removed From Streets.

The street department has been delayed in opening streets today because the motor truck which operates the snow plow is out of commission. The motor truck gave out at eleven o'clock Wednesday night while Candee and Weimer streets in the Fourth ward were being opened. The services of the fire department motor apparatus were required to get the truck out of the snow and to a garage.

"The street department is handicapped at present," said O. F. Weisgerber, street commissioner, "in being compelled to use a truck for operating its snow plow. A tractor does better work and is more satisfactory. The aldermen have already received bids on one, but have not yet made their selection. We will probably not have one until after the next council meeting on Jan. 5."

The fire department is working in harmony with the street department in keeping the streets open, and Chief McGillan has tendered the assistance of his men and apparatus to the street commissioner any time it is needed. As soon as the new tractor is purchased and placed in commission the head of the street department does not anticipate further trouble.

Just at present Mr. Weisgerber is at a loss to know what to do with the snow. The new Laugstad & Meyer building has deposited him of one dumping place and within the last twenty-four hours objection has been filed to the further use of the public parking place at the corner of Oneida and Washington streets. The Y. M. C. A. has granted the use of its lot on Appleton street and the only other dumping places the street commissioner has at present is the parking place at the corner of College avenue and Superior street, city fair grounds, Park hotel site at the corner of College avenue and Drew street and Soldier Square. Additional places are needed.

Deaths

MRS. R. H. MILLIGAN
Mrs. R. H. Milligan of Urbana, Va., formerly Miss Rose Appleton of this city, died in a Chicago hospital Monday following an operation. The body will be brought to Appleton on the 2:45 o'clock train this afternoon and will be interred beside her parents in Binghamton cemetery. Decedent resided in Appleton for several years while she was a teacher in the First ward school. She was married shortly after leaving Appleton about twelve years ago, and for several years had been making her home at Urbana, Va. She is survived by her husband, daughter, Virginia Rose Milligan; two sisters at three brothers, Mrs. Henry Jarchow of Chicago; Mrs. E. W. Hopkins of Ironwood and Edward, John and Earl Appleton, who reside in the west. The body will be accompanied to Appleton by her husband, daughter and sisters.

MRS. R. M. BRIGGS
Word has been received here of the death at Antigo Monday of Mrs. R. M. Briggs, 54 years old, following an attack of heart trouble. Her maiden name was Nettie Burdick. She was a resident of Black Creek for several years, marrying Ralph Briggs, also of Black Creek. She is survived by her widower and six children, Mrs. Vera Todd, Mrs. W. S. Todd, Springfield, Ill.; Vira, Earl, Theodore and Lee, Monico; two sisters, Mrs. Clara Stutzman, Black Creek; Mrs. John Schneider, Two Rivers; two brothers, R. Burdick, Laurel, Miss.; Edward Burdick, Black Creek. Funeral services were held at Antigo Thursday with the Rev. W. R. Dixon, pastor of the First Congregational church, in charge.

Births

A 9 1/2 pound girl was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. William De Voe, 636 Richmond street.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Brax, Town of Ellington, Tuesday, Dec. 21.

Twins daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Guy Williamson, Rankin street, Tuesday, Dec. 14.

CHRISTMAS RUSH DELAYS GIFT FOR NORTHLAND

Due to the business rush during the Christmas season, it will be impossible for the committee which has charge of subscriptions for the memorial to the late Dr. Henry W. Abraham, to present the gift to Northland College Christmas day.

G. E. Buchanan offered $750 toward a memorial for Dr. Abraham several weeks ago, providing the Congregational church raises a similar amount, the whole to be sent to Northland college at Ashland. Subscriptions are being taken quickly and it is expected that the gift will be sent in a few weeks.

The Appleton Coated Paper company bowling team will play the team from the Fox River-Toluhah Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night a match will take place between the Interlake bowlers and the Kimberly Mill men. The games are scheduled by the Interfactory league.

The objection to using the ravines is that the haul is too great. Some persons have advised the use of sleighs and teams in hauling snow, but this method has been done away with on account of the snow having to be handled twice.

Bantam Title Passes To Lynch's Head

Fighting Harp Is Awarded the Decision and Bantam Title After 15 Rounds of Battling With Pete Herman—Big Crowd Sees Championship Change Hands.

By Henry L. Farrell
The United Press Licensed Wire
New York—Beneath the bantam crown, the wide Celtic grin of a New York "harp" beamed this morning.

Joseph A. Lynch, soldier, truck driver, model home boy and the idol of "little Erin" on the west side, is the best boy in the world at 118 pounds. Just as he won the championship three years ago, Pete Herman, the olive-hued Italian bootblack, lost it last night—on a decision.

There was nothing for the judges to do but remove the purple robes of royalty from the broad, muscular shoulders of the New Orleans diminutive and drape them over the thin, bony frame of a new champion.

Lynch out-stepped, outboxed, out-punched and outfought Herman in fifteen rounds of beautiful boxing before 15,000 wildly partisan fans that choked Madison Square Garden to the roof.

Lynch led the fighting all the way and in only two rounds did the former champion earn anything like a margin over the new king.

Two rounds—the first and eighth—were even; two rounds, the tenth and eleventh, were Herman's, but the rest was nothing but Lynch, arms and hands bouncing off covered-up Italian.

Herman emulated the example of a turtle. He pulled himself in behind a shell of gloves and elbows and let Lynch blaze away at him. In the second round Lynch let fly with a left that bounced off Herman's head with a thud. The thump of his left hand was broken by the blow.

Minus the cruel left jab that took the heart out of Sharkey in his last fight, Lynch had to rely on his right and he made excellent use of it.

The first two rounds were just "feeling." Lynch seemed backward about taking the fight to him. Before the third round, the roly-poly Eddie Mead, seeing fame and fortune ahead for him and his charge, thumped Lynch on the back and said:

"You'll have to go get 'im, Joe. He won't come out."

From then on, Lynch did go get him. Herman was on the defensive all the time.

In the tenth round, he started but almost immediately stopped. Lynch looked tired and weary in the tenth and Herman for the first time showed some ambition. He drew blood from the pale, ghost-like figure in front of him and when the little crimson stream trickled down Lynch's chin, the champion seemed to get courage.

Lynch came back revived in the eleventh round and kept up his lead. Herman knew he was losing.

Herman would have tried for a knockout but Lynch was trying for the same thing and Pete was too busy trying to save his own jaw.

When the fifteenth round ended, both were on their feet. Outside of the little cut on Lynch's lip and red punch marks on both bodies, neither fighter showed any scars from the battle.

Gross receipts of the fight last night in Madison Square Garden were $74,881 from 12,953 paid admissions. Herman received $37,346 out of which he had to pay Lynch $7,500 for taking the title away from him.

Government taxes amounted to $7,488 and the state tax $3,744. Prices of from $2 to $10 were charged for admission.

STATE BOWLING CHAMPS LOSE TO LOCAL TEAM

The Kaukauna Paper company team, formerly the Gantner-Bedar quint, winners of the 1920 Osbate bowling tournament, was defeated by the Arcade team of Appleton on the Kaukauna alleys 2,719 to 2,596. Rubbert of the Arcade team, with a mark of 579, was the star of the series.

HILL WILL MEET BEST IN COUNTRY

Appleton Grappler Wrestles Minnesota Champion Here Wednesday Night.

They all look alike to George Hill, Appleton's heavyweight wrestler who tackles Kid Winters at the armory next Wednesday night. Hill is ready to meet any man of his weight in the country, and that doesn't bar anybody.

Winters comes here with the best of reputations. He has defeated dozens of the best men in this section of the country and is sure that Hill will be his next victim. Hill, however, is improving with every bout and local fans expect him to give Winters all that the latter is looking for.

The Appleton grappler is eager to meet Carl Zoll, Green Bay heavyweight, on any terms which Zoll may specify. He believes the Green Bay man is suffering with frigid pedal extremities and that he is trying to dodge the match. Hill has offered to permit the winner to take all the gate receipts and hold the match in Green Bay if Zoll will consent.

An effort is being made to revive the boxing game here by giving fans real bouts. Only good talent will be brought here and an attempt will be made to conduct the bouts in an orderly and clean manner so they will merit the support of all kinds of sport lovers here.

HERMAN, FORMER CHAMP TO MEET JIMMY WILDE

By United Press Licensed Wire
New York—Pete Herman, who lost the bantam-weight championship last night to Joe Lynch, was to sail today for London, where he is to meet Jimmy Wilde, the flyweight champion, in a 20 round bout January 13.

The bout is on as far as I know. There was nothing in the agreement requiring us to bring a title into the fight," Sam Goldman, manager of the ex-champion, said today.

Mrs. Annie Macklin of New London, was an Appleton visitor Wednesday.

THREE GOOD GAMES IN FACTORY LEAGUE

Woolen-Machine Co. Team Whips Eagles in Feature Battle Wednesday.

Appleton Woolen-Machine Co. team defeated the Eagle Manufacturing Co. squad, 21 to 18, in the feature game of the Inter-factory League series at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening. Other scores were: Kimberly-Clark, 27, Fox River-Tolulak, 7; Interlake Pulp and Paper Co., 35, Valley Iron Works, 4.

Ellas was the star player for the Woolen-Machine Co. team. He was given a chance at seven free throws and took them all. Barlament and Van Rydin did good work for the Eagle team.

The first half of the Kimberly-Clark-Fox River-Tolulak game showed up good playing on both sides. The score at the end of the first half was 15 to 3 in favor of Kimberly-Clark. In the second half, the Kimberly sound speeded up and sent the score to 37. The Fox River squad had a total of 7.

Boettcher, Griswald and Collins did stellar work for Kimberly-Clark and Jung and Beatz starred for Fox River-Tolulak.

The Interlakes walked away with the Valley Iron Works faint. The Interlakes showed up well in team work and basket shooting. The conspicuous players for that team were H. Court, Gregory and Day. Reider and Strengle were the stars for the Valley Iron Works.

Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Fomon of Chicago, arrived here Thursday to spend Christmas with Mrs. Fomon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Sherman.

Let Common Sense Keep You Well
If we all lived at nature intended there would be little sickness. Nowadays, however, we are inclined to "go it too hard" to overwork, worry, eat and drink too much; to neglect our exercise, rest and sleep. This weakens the kidneys and brings on backache, dizziness, nervous spells, and annoying urinary disorders. Don't wait for worse troubles. Strengthen the kidneys. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. They have helped others, they should help you. Ask your neighbor.

Appleton Testimony
Mrs. J. E. Whisner, 1030 Lorraine St., says: "I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills have done me a world of good. Some years ago my back started to bother me. It became lame and sore and pained steadily right across my kidneys. These pains bothered me while at my work and made me miserable. I used several boxes of Doan's and they entirely cured me. I haven't been bothered in the least since."

DOUBLE BASKETBALL BILL OFFERED FOR TUESDAY

A double header basketball game will be staged at the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday, Dec. 28. St. Paul church team will meet the Fond du Lac church team and the Interlakes will play against the Fond du Lac Y. M. C. A. squad.

The church team from Fond du Lac is leading in the Luther League. If they are beaten a considerable change will be made in standings.

KAUKAUNA FOX CLUB WHIPS LITTLE CHUTE

Kaukauna Fox club basketball team kept up its winning streak Wednesday night by defeating Little Chute 27 to 10, before a large crowd in Kaukauna.

Both teams were fast, but Kaukauna had the advantage and kept the ball pretty much in its own territory. Team work on both sides was good, but the prize for shooting baskets went to the Fox club.

Practically every man who was out in a suit went into the game. Changes in the Fox club line-up were made every three or four minutes. Schradler, former high school forward, went through the rim on the longest shot in the game.

The curtain raiser between Mulford's Clothing boys and Bushey's second team resulted in the defeat of the Kaukauna team by a score of 12 to 6. The Bushey boys were decidedly in a higher class when it came to playing basketball. Their superior team work and familiarity with each other made it easy for them to win.

THE BOOK OF DEBORAH

Chrys Tries to Rescue Me From a Depressing Mood

My husband didn't betray the least feeling when I told him that the much desired heir to the Lorimer millions was going to arrive at his brother Jim's house. Bob's indifference broke my heart. I knew that he must be disappointed, that once we would have talked over our mutual disappointment, and my hand shook as I poured his coffee. I set my lips in a stiff show-girl smile. I was enduring the most tremendous trial of my married life—and my husband couldn't see how I suffered!

Was he blind to my grief, because another woman filled his mind? I tried to put the horrid idea aside. Then I addressed my husband:

"I'm afraid I really was rather hard on Ann when she told me, but I sent my congratulations to Jim."

"Before I congratulate him, I'll have to let him tell the news," was Bob's comment. "Jane, who's your candidate?"

Since the abrupt ending of our conversation about Katherine's handkerchief, Bob and I have had nothing personal to talk about. We never quarrel, both having been brought up to consider family squabbles the most distressing of vulgarities. When my husband and I are not good friends, we remain polite acquaintances. Late in our conversations have been limited to discussions of politics, the weather, national housing problems, and fall planting in my garden. We have had a few pleasant half-hours out of doors but most of my waking time has been passed alone at home.

Chrys must have noticed my melancholy for she phoned me one morning: "Let's ride today, Jane."

"I can't. You see, I'm going to pick out all the summer clothes which are to be packed away for the winter."

"Come out of it!" was my sister-in-law's command in her most imperative voice. "You're brooding over something, Jane. I'm not asking for your secret now, my dear, but I do insist that a married woman is sure to up-sock her canoe if she keeps paddling in a blue fog. Husbands prefer clear weather. I don't want to ride alone. Lots of hold-ups lately on the Valley Road, you know."

"If you need me as a guard, I'll be over in twenty minutes. Let's get Deb," I suggested, knowing that Deb also needed to be rescued from a blue fog.

"Good! I've already phoned to Ann, but she's going shopping. She said that Jim had a guest, one of his air-service friends. Jim's going to drive him to the Valley Station to catch a train. If we girls meet Jim, we'll get him to take us to that queer Valley Inn for luncheon."

"Fine!" I exclaimed. But I didn't really feel that anything was fine that morning. I was depressed. I am not superstitious, and do not believe in premonitions or omens. I kept thinking about the Valley road. It twists through the only wilderness in the state. More than one robbery by auto-bandits had been staged there. Bob had warned me never to ride there alone.

"VAMP" NEGRESS SEEKING PARDON

Woman Sentenced for Using Mails to Defraud Pleads for Freedom.

Janesville—Application for a pardon for Margaret Burlington of Dill, Wis., is being made by her attorneys. Thomas Nolan and William Dougherty of Janesville to save her from serving a three year sentence in federal prison, and pay a $2,000 fine. Mrs. Burlington was sentenced at Superior in August, on conviction of using the mail to defraud. She pleaded guilty on foot of a confession. Officials at the prison refused to admit her on account of the law which prohibits entrance into federal prisons of anyone with a child. The baby was born in April. She is now in the Dane county jail at Madison.

The government charged that she defrauded several men by inserting advertisements purporting to be from a white woman to prospective wooers. The next letter followed with a request for money for railroad fare. It is alleged that when this was forthcoming, Mrs. Burlington would send a picture of herself and wooers would then refuse to marry her and she then threatened a breach of promise suit. It is charged that in this way several white men from different parts of the country fell victims.

In the petition to the president, Mrs. Burlington alleges that her white daughter inserted the advertisements with Mrs. Burlington's maiden name. She states that she had practically no knowledge of the fraud.

REDS-ROYALISTS ACTIVE IN FRANCE

French Deputy Delivers Scathing Attack on Government's Internal Policy.

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris—The French government, thus far spared from crises such as threatened Italian and British premiers, was attacked in the chamber of deputies today by Deputy 350-ouard Soulier.

In addition the government answered interpellations regarding its bolshevik policy, alleged royalist plots and the general foreign policy. Soulier attacked the bolshevik policy. He declared the election of Jean Renaud, socialist deputy, from Lot-et-Garonne, over a republican candidate, was equivalent to a government defeat since Renaud's ideas on bolshevik recognition are well known. He also pointed out that the district is the one from which Premier Leygues originally was elected.

"It proves the country is dissatisfied with a government which has lost direct contact with the people, as well as authority," Soulier declared.

The deputy criticized the government for "abandoning" France to bolshevik propaganda, permitting former Premier Gaudin to talk publicly in various cities.

Soulier admitted the premier and the foreign minister were working hard, but declared their activity on matters outside the country had resulted in neglecting the country's immediate interests.

Royalists are preparing a mighty coup," Deputy Berthon declared. They are working openly, he asserted, with many meetings at which the virtues of a kingdom are discussed. Posters appealing to the population are making their appearance, he said. He complained that the government remained sluggish despite this royalist attack.

Mrs. Ernest Morse left for Briggsville where she will spend the Christmas holidays with her parents.

NEW TARIFF BILL
ADVANCES PRICESGeneral Rush for Buying When Market Opens But Little Grain Is Sold.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Grain prices advanced in trading on the Chicago board of trade today due to passage by the house of the bill placing an emergency tariff on various agricultural products. There was a general rush to buy at the opening of the market with very little grain for sale. After the first lull, there were some declines. Provisions were higher.

December wheat opened up 1½¢ at $1.67½, and advanced 3 in later trading. March wheat was up 5 at the opening, $1.65, but later dropped ¼. May wheat opened up ¾ at $1.60½, and remained at that figure in later trading.

December corn opened up 1½¢ at $1.67½, and advanced 3 in later trading. May corn was up ½ at the opening, 73½¢, and later advanced 1½. July corn opened up 1½ at $1.60½, and advanced ½ subsequently.

December oats opened up ¼ at 47½¢ and gained ½ later. May oats opened up ½ at 49½¢ and gained an additional ¼. July oats opened up 1½ at 48½¢, and gained an additional ½ later.

CRIME INCREASES
IN LARGE CITIES

by the daylight looting of a jewelry store.

Shoplifters were also particularly active. An epidemic of minor robberies was reported from Racine, Kenosha and other Wisconsin cities.

Arrests All Suspects

The Indianapolis police force has been increased and all suspicious persons were being detained there. The latest robberies included $12,000 from a bank, $11,000 from a fur store and $15,000 from a jewelry shop. Half a dozen murders have occurred in Denver in the last few weeks. The police have been reinforced and motorcycle flying squadrons established to cope with all branches of crime.

Newspapers in Kansas City were intimating that criminals were being protected.

Cities which reported a decrease in crime as a result of emergency measures or entire absence of a "Christmas crime wave," included: Detroit, St. Paul, Des Moines, Lincoln and New Orleans.

"Curfew" in Chicago

Chicago—Police Chief Fitzmorris today inaugurated the curfew in order to check crime. It was announced at police headquarters.

Police were given orders to close all pool rooms, cabarets, and other places of amusement by one o'clock in the morning.

According to instructions, all persons on the streets after two o'clock must give a good account of themselves or be held on charges of being a suspicious person.

Paul Lohery, jeweler, was mortally wounded in a gun battle with a bandit early last evening while hundreds of persons were passing his store. The assailant was lost in the crowd of Christmas shoppers and escaped.

More than twenty five holdups were reported during the night.

Nab Gamblers in Raid.

By United Press Leased Wire.

St. Paul—About eighty men arrested in raids on alleged gambling houses and "booze joints" were up for arraignment in municipal court at South St. Paul today.

Four proprietors were held under bail while practically all the others were released after signing affidavits.

All South St. Paul was aroused when the raids began shortly before midnight last night at the request of Alfred E. Rietz, county attorney.

Rietz, charged laxity against the chief of police and Mayor B. H. Baker.

PUBLIC CONCERT

HERE JANUARY 3

Ninth Regiment Band Will Present Free Program at Lawrence Chapel.

The Ninth Regiment band will present its first municipal concert of the 1921 season at Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening, January 3, according to announcement of Percy Fullinwider, director.

Prof. Fullinwider expects to arrange a program that will be pleasing to the masses, including some of the familiar classical selections and popular songs and instrumental numbers.

The concert was made possible by the common council through an appropriation of $2,000 for 10 public concerts.

Indoor concerts are more or less of an experiment and if they prove popular one or two more may be given. It they prove otherwise, the remaining concerts of the series will be played in the parks next summer.

It is the desire of the band management to arrange the concerts so as to appeal to everybody. They will be made up of numbers similar to those of the outdoor presentations, with opportunity for everybody to hear them without charge of admission.

ONE MAIL DELIVERY ON CHRISTMAS MORNING

Usual holiday hours will be in force at the postoffice Christmas morning. General delivery, stamp, registry and money order windows will be open from 8 to 10 o'clock.

City and rural carriers will both make one delivery of mail in the morning. Country patrons are notified that the rural delivery will be made somewhat earlier than on other days.

Confer Degree

The Golden Rule degree was conferred at the meeting of Encampment No. 16, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Wednesday night at Odd Fellow hall. Other routine business was transacted.

Miss Elizabeth Stiller of Kaukauna, was a business visitor in the city Wednesday.

50 Letters Await Santa
At Appleton Postoffice

Whether Santa Claus will shake his head and laugh, or whether he will stamp his foot and say the kids can't run him, or whether he will drive his team of eight reindeer over the Appleton roofs and leave an abundance of toys is something that would be hard to conjecture from the letters mailed to Old Saint Nick at the postoffice by Appleton youngsters.

One article isn't enough for any of them. Most of them want three or four toys and some want a dozen. Here and there a child with a practical mind wants a pair of rubbers, gloves or something of an economic value.

One little chap tattered on his brother to Santa, but he was wise enough not to sign his name, or perhaps his stockings would be hanging empty Christmas morning for doing any thing so unmanly. The letter reads:

"Dear Santa: Tommy—has got a game named the Little Soldier Boy and when it said to go back he wouldn't go and he got mad. And so you won't have to give him any games. Good bye Santa Claus. Bring Jim, Mary and Helen games but not Tommy."

Santa gets a "bawling out" in another letter where the boy says: "Dear Santa Claus: I hope you will bring me what I want this year." He names eight items that he wants quite badly and leaves orders to deliver them on Christmas eve.

There is a belief that Kris Kringle favors well behaved children, judging from a letter from a little Menasha girl who says "Dear Santa Claus: I was a very good girl, so please bring me a trunk, little doll, puzzle and a Xmas tree. Your child—something of a child's vocational hint, perhaps that of a writer, is shown in this letter: "Dear Santa: I am going to write a few lines to you for Christmas. I would like a dolly bed. May I have a fountain pen and a dictionary and a few other things. I will have to close."

The altruistic spirit is found in many child writers, which will perhaps hold the greatest weight with Santa Claus when he speeds down

TINSELED CARDS
ARE UNMAILABLE

Christmas Greetings Held at Postoffice Because They Violate Rules.

Several persons in Appleton will be wondering why they do not receive an acknowledgment of beautiful Christmas greetings cards they have mailed to friends. They will probably blame the mail service, but they may have overlooked an important ruling themselves.

Quite a number of tinsel postal cards have been dropped at the postoffice for mailing without being enclosed in envelopes. Others have been placed in envelopes, but bear a one cent stamp instead of two cents. The cards usually bear only the person's first name, giving no idea who the sender is.

All these cards are unmailable in this condition because of the ruling which requires them to be enclosed to prevent the tinsel from causing injury to employees. Tinsel is described as the powdered glass, bronze or silver sprinkled on designs on cards. It rubs off easily and has been the cause of damage and injury.

People who have mailed cards of this kind contrary to rules may call at the postoffice to look over those that are held, and can still send them in time for Christmas delivery. There are also a few other cards that bear no address. Some are marked as though the sender intended to place them in an envelope.

Oscar Wettengel of Oshkosh was here Wednesday on business.

Arthur Lindroth is visiting at his home in Shawano.
